Nazi Defenses Inside Vienna Confused Mob

Organized German Resistance In Capital Has Been Ended Says Moscow

KOENIGSBERG NOW HELD BY RUSSIANS

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 10.—Organized Nazi resistance inside Vienna ended today, dispatches from the front said, and the German garrison in the Austrian capital has become a confused mob, fighting desperately to escape.

The break was anticipated after the Soviet Third Ukrainian Army drove four columns into the city, captured the heart of the capital and smashed the Nazis back to the eastern suburban section.

Simultaneously the Second Ukrainian Army drove to within nine miles of the eastern limits of Vienna in a smashing advance from their positions west of Bratislava, threatening the Nazi garrison's last escape corridor from the city.

Close Trap On Capital

Later dispatches from the Russian front said that columns of the Second and Third Ukrainian armies are driving toward an immediate junction which will close the Russian trap around the Austrian capital.

The report added that the last Nazi-operated train out of Vienna must leave soon "if it has not already gone."

Far to the north the Russians captured the gigantic German fortress of Koenigsberg in a spectacular two-day assault and cleared the Baltic coast of all save unimportant groups.

Salvaging all possible waste paper is a job for the duration. It is most urgently needed for shipping cases. Paper packed the war punch, save it.

Local victory gardeners are getting to work earlier than usual this season, due to the weather conditions. This phase of the war effort, planting a victory garden, is more urgent than since the start of the war, because of the huge demand for food that will exist this year.

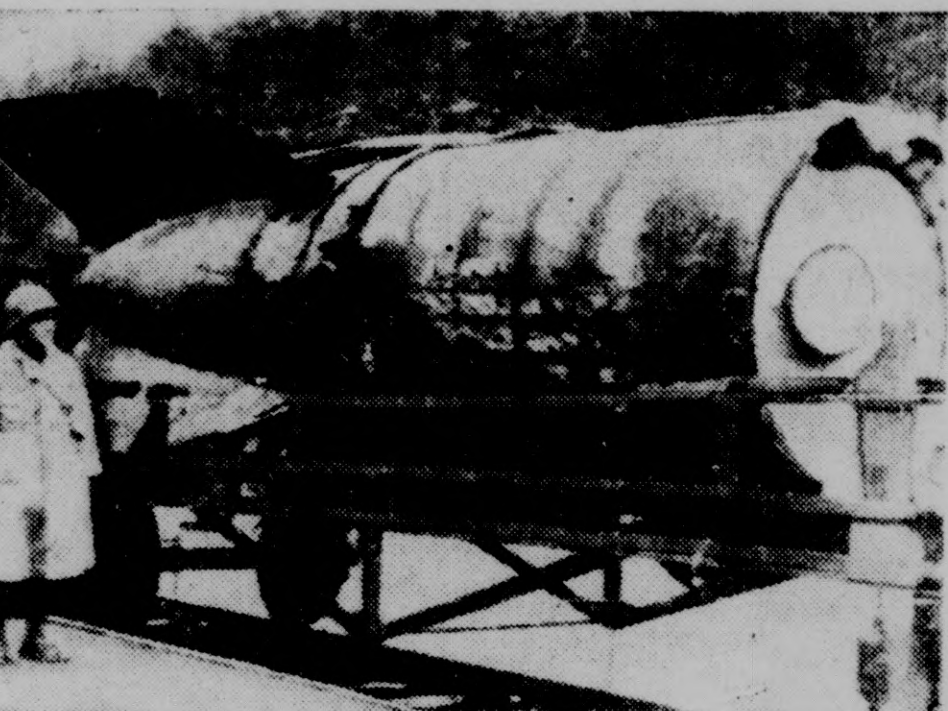

Many cities and towns in the United States are no longer accepted, needless, harmful noise as a necessary evil, and are combating it with a wartime measure, George W. Nye, president of the National Indentment Council, stated today in announcing plans for National Noise Abatement Week, which will be held nationally from April 29 to May 5. Wartime pressures upon service men and women of civilians have increased the need for reducing excessive, unnecessary noise in home, street and factory, Mr. Nye declared. He said that more than 50 cities in the United States are conducting anti-noise programs this year and will participate in Noise Abatement Week, enlisting the aid of city officials, civic organizations, schools and other groups.

Eighth Army In Italy Launches Large Offensive

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, April 10.—The British Eighth Army has launched a large-scale offensive in eastern Italy, headquarters of Gen. Mark W. Clark announced today.

The offensive was begun yesterday behind a shattering aerial blow, constituting the heaviest sky operation since the tremendous bombardment of Nazi forces at Cassino last year.

In Adriatic Sector
The attack was launched in the Adriatic sector, the announcement by Gen. Clark, commander of all ground forces in Italy, said.

The Allied forces crossed the Senio river on a wide front in the vicinity of Lugo after the jump off.

A record 3,100 sorties were flown yesterday by planes of the Mediterranean Allied Air Forces in support of the operation.

Planes of the 15th U. S. Air Force and R. A. F. heavyweight craft concentrated blows against German forces on the Eighth Army sector.

Fifth Army Closes In
Along the west coast area troops of the U. S. Fifth Army closed in on the key Nazi stronghold of Massa, beating down savage German opposition.

The U. S. 92nd Infantry Forces under the command of Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond reached the outskirts of Massa yesterday under the cover of a massive Allied air assault and clawed their way deeper into the German lines in fighting which was reported still raging today.

LIBERTY BELL OPENS SEVENTH WAR LOAN DRIVE

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—(INS)—The seventh war loan drive officially got underway today following ceremonies in Independence Hall where Mayor Bernard Samuel tapped the Liberty Bell seven times over a nationwide radio hookup.

"I am proud that Philadelphia, the workshop of the world, has been chosen to launch the seventh war loan program," he said. "It was on this historic spot that our forefathers united to pattern the great ideals and principles of democracy for which we are waging the costliest of all history's wars."

Sales to the general public will begin May 14, following the industrial phase of the drive. The campaign will end June 30.

G. Ruhland Reiman, state chairman of the war finance committee, declared that "financing of the tremendous cost of war is a job for all of us. American labor and management united for action will pledge their full support of the seventh war loan drive."

Few Candidates For Primaries

Numerous Offices Are Without Competition—Monday Was Last Day For Filing

SOME CONTESTS
FOR CITY OFFICES

With a dearth of candidates seldom equalled in Lawrence county in a quarter of a century, the deadline for filing for the June 19 primaries was reached Monday night at 4:30. From the indications the primary will be almost exclusively Republican and probably woefully light in the number of votes.

For judge there is only one candidate, Judge W. Walter Braham who is filed on both Republican and Democratic tickets, with no opposition on either. His election in November is assured.

Candidates for other offices are not permitted to file on more than one ticket with the result that many Republican candidates are unopposed in their own party and no candidate filed on the Democratic ballot. This is true of Register and Recorder Orville Potter, District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson, City Controller William Moore.

GUAM, April 10.—Japanese forces, fighting from defenses described as "artificial and fantastic," drove American Doughboys from one strategic ridge above the Machinato airstrip as a frontline dispatch today classed the battle of Okinawa as "second only to Iwo and Saipan" in ratio of casualties.

Machinato is about two miles north of Naha, capital city toward which 24th Army Corps units have been advancing in the face of increasing enemy resistance.

Enemy Entrenched
International News Service War Correspondent Julian Hart, at headquarters of the 24th Army Corps, said that the enemy was entrenched on Kakazu Ridge after a night of heavy rains during which the Japs tried several times to infiltrate U. S. lines. In addition, they launched several counterattacks.

On the northern front, meantime, Marine troops controlled half of the 50-square-mile Motobu peninsula on the west coast.

National Commander Of War Veterans Organization To Speak At Cathedral Tonight

WILL DISCUSS LEGION PLANS

EDWARD N. SCHEIBERLING

Legionnaires from western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio were gathering here this afternoon to honor their national commander, Edward N. Scheiberling of Albany, N. Y., together with Department Commander William J. Rhoads of Delaware county. Mrs. Martin Eschelman, department president of the American Legion Auxiliary, and other distinguished Legion and auxiliary members arrived here early this afternoon and are quartered at The Castleton, where a reception was held during the afternoon.

Speaks Tonight

Tonight, Commander Scheiberling will speak at the Cathedral at a program starting at 7:30 o'clock, and which will be followed by a dance in the Cathedral ballroom. Preceding the speaking program, there will be a program of organ music, featuring Bernice Armstrong, and during the program vocal numbers will be rendered by Howard Price, noted tenor.

This afternoon Commander Scheiberling and his party visited the Deshon hospital annex, where he greeted the men stationed there.

Both National Commander Scheiberling and Department Commander Rhoads served with hard fighting units overseas in the last war. National Commander Scheiberling having served with the 31st infantry.

Jap Convoy Is Blasted By U. S. Bomber Attack

By JOHN CASHMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, April 10.—American airmen, destroying or damaging 21 Jap surface craft of all types in a single day, tightened today their blockade of the South China Sea and continued the reduction of the enemy's remaining air strength on Formosa.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's regular communiqué revealed that night-flying heavy bombers on blockade duty off Swatow intercepted a Japanese convoy, promptly sinking an 8,000-ton transport and an escorting destroyer, and a fourth vessel were damaged "seriously."

Sunk at Hong Kong

Also sunk by these blockade airmen was a harbor vessel at Hong Kong and six enemy coastal vessels in Hainan waters.

MacArthur's communiqué told also of a small Japanese ship being sent to the bottom off the southern coast of Formosa, while night patrol planes bombed the Keelung waterfront on that fortress island between the Philippines and Japan.

Regarding the neutralization campaign against Formosa, MacArthur said that his four-motored

Pastor Of Christ Lutheran Church Will Take New Pastorate In Pittsburgh

SERVED CHURCH
HERE 18 YEARS

Rev. Walter R. Sommerfield, of this city, has accepted a call to Christ Lutheran church, Forest Hills, Pittsburgh, where he will take up the duties of the pastorate after having served for nearly 18 years as pastor of Christ Lutheran church here. In record of length of ministerial service in New Castle, Rev. Sommerfield's is the second longest in the city.

Rev. Sommerfield was the first resident pastor of Christ Lutheran congregation, coming here in September, 1927, after the organization of the church in April, 1925. Since then he has built the church up from one with a very small congregation to one of more than 250 members. It is affiliated with the Missouri synod of the Lutheran church.

Reports have been frequent of late, of a deer or two being sighted in Lawrence county, but this is the largest number that has been seen in this locality in recent years.

Bond Rally At Plant Launches War Loan Drive

Seventh War Loan Campaign Gets Under Way At Standard Steel Springs Co.

Lawrence county's campaign in the Seventh War Loan got away to a flying start Monday afternoon, April 9, when the Standard Steel Spring company held a bond rally in the plant at three o'clock with hundreds of employees present. The quota set by the men and management of the company is $140,000, and if you want to lay up some money for your income tax payments, you can give odds the quota will be passed. The six previous ones have.

Highlighting the rally was the presence of six airmen, just back from the Atlantic and Pacific theaters of war, headed by First Lieutenant John W. Treble. Each of the six airmen spoke briefly, telling something of his experiences in actual aerial combat. All of them spoke warmly of the production record of the Standard Steel Spring men and women in turning out aerial bombs, something the airmen knew considerably about.

May Be 100,000 Nazis Encircled In Holland Trap

Advance Already Within 27 Miles Of Great Naval And U-Boat Base At Emden

ALLIED ARMIES IN FURTHER ADVANCES

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, April 10.—Germany's entire defense line anchored on the North Sea sagged today under the pounding of massed Allied armies which tore to within an estimated 15 miles of that coast, threatening to isolate some 100,000 enemy troops in Holland.

Already within 27 miles of the naval and U-boat base at Emden, which was reported being evacuated by the Germans, Field Marshal Sir Bernard Law Montgomery's forces drew a tight ring around the Germans pocketed in Holland.

Official spokesmen at supreme headquarters, revising upward their earlier estimates, said they believe more than 100,000 enemy troops are caught in that circle.

Ruhr Pocket Dwindling
Gen. Omar N. Bradley, whose three American armies were lined up within 130 to 140 miles of Berlin, sent crack units plunging into the dwindling Ruhr pocket. There the enemy was compressed within an increasing smaller space and resistance slackened noticeably.

Headquarters spokesmen said there was little chance that the Nazis would be able to sneak supplies by air into the shrinking pocket. But they admitted the possibility that senior officers and key industrialists might escape.

Only isolated planes, flying by night, presumably will be able to make these trips, especially since there are no important airfields now in good condition in the entire Ruhr.

With Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army already within 60 miles or less of Czechoslovakia and the entire northern German front deteriorating rapidly, indications

Koenigsberg Is Shambles

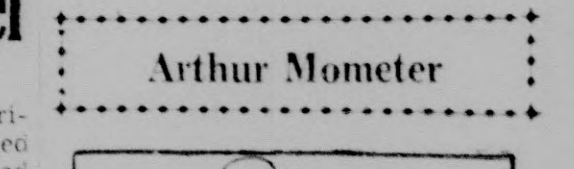

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 10.—Front line dispatches reaching Moscow today said that the captured East Prussian capital and fortress city of Koenigsberg was a great shambles in which the German garrison had fought as from a giant ant-heap.

The battle which began last October with the breakthrough of German lines to the east ended with the capitulation of the city.

Koenigsberg became a trap not only for the surrounded German divisions inside the city but for hundreds of thousands of civilians who escaped from other parts of East Prussia to what they thought was safety there.

Berlin And Kiel Heavily Bombed During Night

LONDON, April 10.—(INS)—Royal Air Force heavy bombers maintained the Allied aerial onslaught against the Reich during the night by blasting Nazi ship building yards at Kiel, the Air Ministry announced today.

Berlin also was bombed. The RAF craft were out over Germany in great strength.

Britain's Ministry of Home Security announced, meanwhile, that England had remained free of German V-bomb attacks for 12 consecutive days.

The night action followed formidable American daylight attacks, involving some 2,000 U. S. planes, concentrated on German airfield bases of jet-propelled planes. At least 83 parked enemy craft and another in the air were destroyed.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Anna B. Shirk

Mrs. Anna B. Shirk, aged 84 years, of R. D. 2, Youngstown road, died Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at her home as the result of an extended illness of eight years' duration. She was the widow of Oliver Jesse Shirk, who died in 1915.

Mrs. Shirk was born in Mercer county August 9, 1860, and lived in Lawrence county for approximately 45 years. She was a member of the Central Christian church. Survivors include two sons, Jesse and Oscar Perry Shirk; one daughter, Mrs. Edna M. Eckles, of New Castle; one sister, Mrs. Eva Irwin, Meadville; seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Howard L. Reynolds funeral home, Adams street, with Rev. James N. Rainey of the Central Christian church officiating.

Interment will take place in Oak Park cemetery. Friends are being received at the funeral home this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Haverfield Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. S. G. Haverfield were conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Fullerton, of North Beaver township, with Rev. Maxwell Cornelius, of the Watson Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, officiating. Rev. James A. Crawford, of the Mt. Jackson U. P. church, assisted in the services which were largely attended.

Frank Paden, Howard Butler, Fred Aultberger, Clark Blackburn, M. T. Guthrie and Chester Kirkpatrick acted as pallbearers.

Interment took place in Westfield cemetery.

Cifra Funeral Time

Funeral services for Stefan Cifra, aged 60 years, Smithfield street, extension, will be held from the residence Thursday at 2 p. m., with Harry Pitzer in charge. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. Friends may call at the residence.

Mr. Cifra was born in Czechoslovakia, February 15, 1885, son of Andy and Anna Cifra. He married in New Castle for 23 years, and was a laborer on the Pennsylvania Railroad. MAY BE 100,000 NAZIS ENCIRCLED IN HOLLAND TRAP where the Nazis would try to cling to their V-bomb sites in Holland as long as possible.

No Voluntary Withdrawal

To date, spokesmen said, there have been no signs of a voluntary enemy withdrawal. The Canadians were reported officially "approaching" Deventer and within 25 miles of Eindhoven. These headquarters reports again lagged behind frontline developments.

The British Second Army established a bridgehead over the Weser river at Hoya, below Bremen. The 11th Armored and Sixth Airborne divisions of that fighting force cleared a 10-mile stretch east of the Leiner river north of Hannover.

The U. S. Seventh Army under Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch reached Craikheim, sticking a salient southeastward into enemy defenses. Troop carrier planes flew supplies to one advanced armored formation near there after it had been temporarily harassed by the Nazis.

The push on Emden was spearheaded by the Canadian Fourth Armored Division which gained an additional four miles after streaking forward 17 miles from an Ems river bridgehead on the east bank.

A hint that the Nazis may be abandoning Emden, long an important German submarine base, was contained in a dispatch from 21st Army Group headquarters of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

The drive to isolate German forces in the Netherlands was intensified as American and other British army forces punched deeper into northern Germany gained ground in the direction of the Elbe river, last natural defense barrier before Berlin.

U. S. troops battled closer to the outskirts of Hannover while British Second Army forces drove to within sight of the great port of Bremen.

While British forces closest to Bremen were placed at points five miles from the port, units of the Seventh Army Division, sweeping around to the southeast, were reported in front advances to have forced the Weser river and established a bridgehead at Hoya, 21 miles southeast.

American ninth army forces virtually encircled the German communication city of Hannover, closing in on the metropolitan area from the west and north on those sides. Last official reports placed the Americans at Lieut. Gen. William H. Simpson's army four miles from Hannover.

At headquarters it was indicated that the Americans, rather than attempting to take Hannover immediately, were planning to surround the city. The British second army, within sight of the great port of Bremen, consolidated positions five miles from that city.

Overhead, allied air forces sought to keep the remains of the German air force on the ground through persistent attacks on enemy airfields. There were indications that the Luftwaffe was growing extremely nervous over the allied onslaughts on their airfields, 10 of which were bombed yesterday in an area of 60 miles around Munich.

Use Highways For Planes

Allied pilots reported seeing Nazi airplanes parked on auto highways southwest of Munich. The highways evidently were being used by the enemy as runways.

Headquarters disclosed that in yesterday's forays to wipe out the Nazi air force 132 German planes were destroyed on the ground and 24 were knocked out of action in combat.

The 84th division of the U. S. ninth army closed on Hannover from the west and northwest while the fifth armored division moved in toward the city from the south.

Back to the southwest in the Ruhr the 79th infantry division of the ninth army entered the northern section of the large industrial city of Essen. Last reports said heavy fighting was in progress against last-ditch German defense forces.

Canadians Lunge Ahead

The Canadian push on Emden was intensified after the Canadian fourth armored division broke out of its bridgehead across the Ems river and first lunged 17 miles northward to reach the outskirts of Berchaven, 20 miles south of Leer. Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's third army along the center of the 300-mile long western front scored new advances up to nine miles along a 25-mile front. The third cleaned up a pocket of stiffly resisting Germans south of Gotha and straddled out its line.

Infantry of the third at one point advanced three miles east to enter Waldau, 22 miles south of Gotha. Other infantry units advanced five miles east to the vicinity of Manebach, 14 miles south of Gotha.

Troops of both the 87th and 89th divisions cleaned up the enemy pocket of resistance south of Gotha and reached Plauen and the vicinity of Roda, 13 and 18 miles, respectively, southeast of Gotha.

A front dispatch said the northern wing of the third army had linked up with forces of the U. S. first army 18 miles northwest of Meinhhausen.

Forward spearheads of the first army last were reported within 138 miles of Berlin. The town of Eudersdorf, 13 miles east of Goettingen, was taken by the first.

Mr. McClain is always a brief speaker, but what he has to say has meaning. The gist of his remarks was: "The campaign will be put over." And it will.

High School Band

Prefacing the meeting with martial airs was the Senior High School Band, directed by Joe S. Replogle. The band closed the meeting with the Star Spangled Banner.

The rally was a payroll savings rally, one of the important parts of any war loan campaign. The plant has an excellent over-all record of payroll deductions for war bonds, but this campaign stresses the necessity of going even farther. This time the quota of "E" bonds for everybody is up 60 per cent, which means that each payroll deduction adds an additional purchase of bonds by individuals, and the result will be additional headaches for the Axis.

The Standard Steel Spring men and women have only one rule of operation: "Get It Done." They started on the first day of the bond campaign and late Monday afternoon the response showed that this campaign will be put over in the same fashion the six previous ones have. This plant is short on words but long on action, and the action is already under way.

Prior to the rally the airmen and a few guests had lunch in The Castleton hotel. Following the luncheon the airmen went through the plant of Standard Steel Springs and saw for themselves how aerial bombs are made from steel tubing. In their many missions over Germany and Japanese-held territory they had probably dropped a lot of Standard Steel bombs. Monday they saw bombs at the source.

JAP RESISTANCE ON OKINAWA IS GROWING STIFFER

Marine Corps some five miles beyond the neck of Motobu peninsula, which puts about ten miles westward from the body of Okinawa. Japanese resistance to the Leatherneck surge continues to be "scattered and ineffective" according to Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' headquarters in a communique which added:

Small local gains. Only "small local gains" were announced on the 24th Army Corps front, where enemy opposition was described as stiff. It was in this region where Doughboys of Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge's command were making some of the heaviest artillery fire of the Pacific war.

Powerful Pacific fleet warships of the 1,400-ship invasion convoy stood offshore, leveling their batteries against the Jap positions while land-based artillery of both the army and marine corps lent their weight to the blistering barrage.

Destruction of Jap guns, emplacements, barracks and small craft resulted from the naval bombardment causing an abortive air raid by 10 enemy planes against the invasion flotilla. Of the ten Jap aircraft attacking the U. S. forces, seven were destroyed Monday evening.

The moon is never on time, and astrologers are at a loss to explain the tardiness of that orb.

FOOD SHORTAGE

There has been a great deal of controversy about the shortage of food, but, for the most part, the thrifty housewife has found ways and means of supplying her family with nourishing food. She has found new ways to combine foods to make wholesome and appetizing dishes and the family has marveled at her achievements.

One of the most popular methods of meeting the shortage of certain foods and of making the ration points go further is to use recipes that include the use of bread. Bread is plentiful, it is non-rationed and is readily adaptable to a variety of forms such as a toast base for creamed soups, and in many other ways.

Many attractive party novelties are made with toast, and bread desserts are both tasty and wholesome. Another good reason for using bread plentifully is the fact that it is high in nutritional value. This is especially true of Keystone Bread because it is enriched with extra quantities of Vitamins and Minerals to the highest standards set by the United States Government. This maximum enrichment is over 50% higher than the minimum requirement, therefore, housewives, who are anxious to supply their families with a balanced diet will find Keystone Bread going a long way toward making up the deficiency caused by the shortage of other foods.

The Keystone Bright Ideas Booklet and Ready Spreads Recipes, which were distributed to the homes throughout this community, offer many ways in which to use bread effectively to help make ration points go further. The wise housewife will keep these booklets handy and use the ideas to improve their war-time menus.

NAZI DEFENSES INSIDE VIENNA CONFUSED MOB

of Nazis from central Latvia to the mouth of the Oder river opposite Stettin.

Capture 27,000 Koenigsberg. More than 27,000 German officers and men were captured in the final battle for Koenigsberg, according to the Soviet communique which said uncounted thousands of German dead were strewn over the streets of the ancient East Prussian capital.

Nazi forces in Vienna, clinging desperately to positions in the eastern and northeastern sections of the city, were virtually cut off from escape as four columns of Marshal Fedor I. Tolbukhin's forces crushed to the heart of the capital.

Meanwhile the Second Ukrainian Army, driving eastward from positions west of captured Bratislava, captured Manduch, only nine miles from the eastern section of Vienna, in an advance which threatens to complete a steel circle around the dwindling German garrison.

Battle North Of Bratislava

Other Second Ukrainian columns engaged the Germans in bitter fighting north and northwest of Bratislava, capturing 40 Czechoslovak towns and villages and taking more than 2,000 prisoners.

South of Vienna other forces of Marshal Tolbukhin swept into the Austrian communications hub of Berndorf where they captured 1,700 prisoners, cleared the towns of Nazis and seized huge stores of supplies and weapons, along with 30 locomotives and 1,655 railway cars.

Koenigsberg's fall marked the end of a three-month siege in the area which was started by the late Marshal Ivan D. Chernyavsky, who died of battle wounds. Moscow reported that with the fall of the East Prussian stronghold, Russian supply vessels will now be able to transport supplies from the Leningrad area without a long overland haul.

and County Surveyor W. Leslie Wilson.

For sheriff there are four Republican candidates, Frank L. Coen, Frank N. Johnson, Earl Jay and Edward Tucker. The Democrats have no candidate filed. For jury commissioners Republican George J. Forrest and Democrat Tad E. Shields are unopposed.

City Candidates

For city council the Republican candidates filed are Joseph D. Alexander, James Gibson, Charles E. McGrath, J. Elder Bryan, John J. McCoy and Charles L. Reese. On the Democratic ticket John Vansky has filed.

For school board the Republican candidates are C. Leroy Shira, William D. Coburn, A. C. Hyde, T. L. Hofmeister for the full term of six years. For the unexpired term of four years there are two candidates Earl M. Brookover and Joseph R. Rick. The Democrats have no candidates.

One petition for a wet and dry fight has been filed, the one being from Wampum where citizens have asked to be permitted to vote upon whether whiskey and beer will be outlawed there. This is the only wet and dry fight in the county this time.

I do not believe that by the study of books, one can obtain the equivalent of contact with men. As I observe the profusion of educational opportunities in the multitude of books and periodicals, I realize what is needed, is not more information, but better judgment.

CAVEN-JOHNSTON WEDDING DATE TOLD

Saturday, May 5, 1945, is the date chosen for the wedding of Ruth Caven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert A. Caven, Beaver Falls, to Ralph C. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Johnston, New Wilmington.

Announcement was made known Saturday afternoon at a lovely 1:30 o'clock luncheon, given by Mrs. Caven. Friends and relatives of the honoree numbering 24, found the news enclosed in capsules, concealed in novel place markers of multi-colored spring flowers.

The wedding ceremony will take place at 2:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church, Beaver Falls.

Bridge, 500 and other pastimes claimed attention afterwards. Those winning prizes were Doris Anders, Mrs. Richard Elm, Mrs. Merrill Stewart, Mrs. Ted Brandenberger, Martha Schmidt and Mrs. Betty Kennedy. The door trophy fell to Dorothy Todd.

Mrs. Caven was presented with a beautiful honor guest remembrance from her mother. She was also recipient of additional mementos of a personal nature it being her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. John H. Johnston of New Wilmington, mother of the prospective bridegroom, was among out-of-town guests.

S. E. B. CLASS APRIL MEETING ON MONDAY

Hospitality of the home of Misses Viola and Sarah Wallace, Meyer avenue, was extended S. E. B. class members Monday evening. Presiding hostesses for this April event included Miss Alma Locke, Mrs. Gordon Paden, Miss Cordelia Roberts and Mrs. M. L. Rich.

In opening prayer was led by Mrs. L. P. Hennaway. Presiding was President Stella Hove who gave welcome to the members. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Paden, Mrs. M. L. Rich, Mrs. Alma Locke, Mrs. Cordelia Roberts and Mrs. M. L. Rich.

Impressively conducted was the devotional period presented by Mrs. Burr R. McKnight. She chose "The Builder" for her subject, and took the story to the members.

In request for Holy Bibles, the S. E. B. class has responded, sending a number overseas which were properly distributed by an appointed chaplain.

Entertainment was under the direction of Miss Locke. She cleverly conducted a "literary society" as the highlight.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at the close.

Saturday, May 12, a luncheon is planned. It will take place in the home of Mrs. Asa Hoffmaster, Edenburg, with Mrs. Homer Campbell chairman.

A birthday party was given in honor of Ronald Cotesse Sunday, honoring his seventh anniversary. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Cotesse, of 1035 Butler avenue, being hosts.

Approximately 15 were present on this occasion, and games were played with prizes being awarded to Dolly Graziani, Anthony Staph and Cam Cotesse. Songs were sung by Dolly Graziani and Cam Cotesse.

Later a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, a birthday cake centering the table.

Ronald received many lovely gifts.

SPRING DANCE OF RAINBOW ON FRIDAY

Plans have been completed by the girls of New Castle Assembly No. 1, Order of the Rainbow, for Girls, for their annual spring dance, which will take place on Friday evening, April 13, in the Cathedral.

Worthy Advisor Peggy Lamoree and her committee have been working hard to make the event the usual success, and a large number of young folks from the New Castle community, as well as surrounding points, are expected to attend.

Dancing will be in vogue from nine to 12, and a good orchestra has been secured. Mrs. John L. Covert, chairman of the dance committee from the advisory board, announces. Members of the board will serve as chaperons.

On Wednesday, April 18, the meeting of the assembly will be followed by the presentation of a play by the dramatic group of the assembly, under the direction of Mrs. William C. Whieldon.

DANIEL LEASURE AUXILIARY DINNER

Daniel Leasure Auxiliary, No. 52, assembled in the American Legion Home Monday night for their April session. The occasion was launched with the serving of a full-course dinner at 6:30, with husbands and visitors as special guests. In charge were Mrs. Martha Carr, Mrs. Kathryn Scott and committee.

Officials in attendance who were also honored included the following: Mrs. Jennie Black, deputy president, of Altoona; Mrs. Jeanne McDonald, deputy secretary, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Mae Jenkins, deputy guard, of Pittsburgh; and other Pittsburghers were Mrs. Meta Gurnea.

Business ensued, with Mrs. Rose Porter, second vice president, presiding. She extended welcome to the assembly, and in turn introduced visiting and local officials, who made impromptu remarks. An especially instructive talk was contributed by Mrs. Jenkins.

An informal social period brought the evening to a close.

April 23 members will gather at the home of Mrs. Marie Pence, 306 Highland avenue. A tureen dinner is planned for this date.

NEW CASTLE CHAPTER MEETS IN CATHEDRAL

New Castle Chapter, No. 105, Order of the Eastern Star, held their first initial meeting under direction of newly installed officers on Monday night. The session convened in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, with Mrs. Corretta Reid, worthy matron, presiding.

Plans were outlined for their April 23 meeting at the same place to feature a social period of cards and games. Mrs. Margaret Frank, past matron, is chairman in charge.

Entertainment chairman, Mrs. Ruth Aikin, presented an informal program last evening, at the close of routine business.

Refreshments were served afterwards, with Mrs. Edith Simpson, chairman, and her committee, in charge.

individual.

Keeping War Restrictions

Maintenance of price, wage and similar controls after the war, urged by the heads of the four agencies chiefly concerned in those governmental activities, looks to an end which has the full approval of every American—prevention of inflation.

Some forms of regulation and control, undoubtedly, will be necessary for a time, but there is a large question whether that must involve continuance in full flower of their activities as proposed by the chiefs of the Office of Economic Stabilization, OPA, the War Food Administration and the National Labor Board.

The doors cannot be thrown wide open to disastrous inflationary tendencies. That's clear. But it should be the policy of the government at the earliest possible moment to relax as much of the wartime regulation of food, fuel, business and labor and innumerable other phases of life as can be done safely.

The aim should be not to maintain regulatory offices and activities, but to get rid of them—to steer the Nation toward an end of restrictions, rather than to continue them perhaps for years to come.

Spelling Bees

Public schools in the city of Detroit have revived the spelling bee. Hundreds of students of all ages are taking part in elimination contests. Starting with the various schools, winners go to district meets, and finally those who survive the preliminaries will merge into a grand finale. The contests are proving as interesting to the public as they were in the days of reading, writing and arithmetic.

Reports of the early contests reflect that many pupils stumbled on simple words. None seemed to have trouble with the vowel combination of "er" and "en" which trips so many oldsters. One girl went out on "stopped," after staying in for hours. A boy who appeared to be a sure winner in his school spelled reinder with an "A." Another missed out on "factory," still another on "reproach."

An eighth grade girl carried off the honors at her school on "unconscious." Another school champion was victorious on "victorious." The word "judicial" stumped everybody in one class except a 12-year-old girl.

This revival of an old-fashioned school activity is providing great fun for students and patrons alike.

Bases In The Pacific

In addition to directing the successful strategy of the naval war by the Pacific Fleet, Admiral Ernest J. King is also deeply and justifiably concerned with what the United States will do with victory after it is won. In a speech to the Academy of Political Science in New York he has laid down his own formula for the future, insofar as the nation's sea defenses are concerned.

It includes an ardent plea for both a big postwar Navy and an adequate merchant marine. But, most emphatically of all, the Admiral urges that the United States retain the Pacific bases "paid for by the sacrifice of American blood."

How many of the islands and atolls conquered during this war shall be kept under the American flag is not a question which can be answered offhand. It is complicated by the fact that some of them were British possessions before the war and that some were under League of Nations mandates.

But it is inconceivable that there could be wide disagreement with Admiral King's basic premise that adequate air and naval bases must be retained in the Pacific and that they must be kept fully supplied and armed after the present war.

The attack on Pearl Harbor found this nation woefully unprepared in this respect. Only in Hawaii was there anything resembling an adequate base. Even in areas like Guam, the Philippines and Alaska there had been failure to provide the defenses to attack off.

If the war with Japan has taught a lesson, it is that the United States must be far better prepared in this respect from now on. To be the guardian of peace in the Pacific, Uncle Sam must have bases adequate for the job.

Tariff Fight Looming

Proposal of President Roosevelt that Congress give him the right, by treaty with other countries, to reduce our tariffs another 50 per cent gives indication that we have ahead of us another of those tariff fights, which have not seen for some years now. It will be remembered that the New Deal sought to repeal the tariff laws by indirect action. It was obviously impossible to get Congress to repeal them by statute. So a bill was got through Congress giving the administration the right to enact reciprocal agreements, the effect of which, in toto, would be the same as tariff reduction.

President Roosevelt now requests that he be given the right to reduce tariffs further by the same method. The reason given by his supporters for such action is that if we are to have sound prosperity restored after the war is over, we must buy abroad as well as sell abroad, and this cannot be done unless we cut our tariffs further.

Those who oppose the new authority to slash tariffs again declare that lower tariffs will mean closed industries in the United States and that if this happens the goal of six-million jobs for Americans will never be reached. Congressman Knutson declared that in event tariffs are slashed further as planned we might as well throw our blueprints for 50,000,000 jobs out of the window, as such action would force the American laborer to compete with cheaper labor abroad.

Certainly in any event we cannot expect to restore normal trade relations for some years at least after the war is over. Before the occupied nations and those which have been war-torn can expect to restore normal trade the entire economic fabric of the various nations will have to be removed. And that restoration will have to be done by Uncle Sam. Already the Bretton Woods plan and plans for rebuilding Europe at the expense of the American taxpayer are in the making. It therefore would seem that much time will have to elapse before we will buy from Europe so they can sell to us.

Therefore one may be privileged to ask "why the hurry" on this tariff reduction authority. Wouldn't it be a good idea to permit the smoke of battle to clear away so that we can see what ought to be done?

One thing we don't have to complain about nowadays is a pair of new squeaky shoes.

Summer will soon be here girls. Get your fur neckpieces and your dark slippers ready.

The national debt like the escalator seems to be going up and up, and on and on without end.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Political Pattern

In U. S. Is Changing

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The political pattern of America is changing. It is a change which began long ago with the industrial revolution. But it took recent events to make it unmistakably clear.

Once, the citadel of political radicalism and economic liberalism was in the rural areas. Farm representatives put forth the most extreme doctrines. From the agricultural hinterlands came such innovations as the initiative, referendum and the recall.

The predominant voices for liberalism and progressive change came from the farm belt and particularly from the middle west. For a generation in American public life, principal advocates of reform were George W. Norris of Nebraska, Robert M. La Follette, Sr., of Wisconsin and William Jennings Bryan, who also came out of Nebraska. Other liberals—Wash of Montana, Kenyon of Iowa, Harold of Nebraska, Olson of Minnesota—all were from the rural west.

Even the south contributed to the ferment. We forget today that southerners such as Jack Garner of Texas and "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina often rode herd on Herbert Hoover and Wall Street in the late twenties and early thirties.

Wheel Has Turned

But the wheel has come full turn. Senators and representatives from the south and middle west are pillars of conservatism. They are the most outspoken foes of the New Deal. It is from the industrial cities of the north that the new advocates of reforms are coming.

Under the influence of organized labor, they are turning against anything that resembles "regimentation," even in wartime. That was undoubtedly one of the chief reasons for the defeat last week of the administration's manpower bill.

The Republican party was split down the center two decades ago. Norris of Nebraska, the elder La Follette and McNary of Oregon were backing public ownership of Muscle Shoals. They opposed selling the great dam to Henry Ford. Senators George Moses of New Hampshire called these Republican senators "sons of the wild jackass," and the name stuck.

The senate vote on the appointment of Henry Wallace to be secretary of commerce showed how fully the political wheel has come round. Republicans from the middle west voted overwhelmingly against Wallace. They professed to be afraid of his "visionary" ideas. At the same time, a large majority of New England Republicans voted to give Wallace a chance to test his vision in action.

New England Changes

New England was the center of conservatism. Yet of the seven Republicans from that region in the senate, five voted for Wallace. These included Aiken of Vermont, Brewster of Maine, Hart of Connecticut, Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Tobey of New Hampshire.

It is Senator Aiken from Vermont, one of the two states which went Republican in 1936, who appears the most likely successor to the late George Norris as the leader of progressivism in the senate.

Aiken is 52 years old, a farmer and an orchardist. He is quiet-spoken and gentle of manner, as was Norris. But before you talk to him very long, you are aware of his deep convictions. In his native state he has taken an active part in various farm movements, with the result that the Vermont Farm Bureau Federation is one of the most progressive in the country.

While he has always voted the Republican ticket, Aiken was a leader in the fight not only for confirmation of Wallace, but also for approval of Aubrey Williams to be head of the Rural Electrification Administration. Keenly aware of many New Deal blunders, he is nevertheless in sympathy with the objective of most of the reform measures identified with the Roosevelt administration before the war.

One of the curious anomalies of the current political scene is that Senator James Mead, who will probably be the New Deal candidate for governor of New York next year, voted against the proposed St. Lawrence seaway project last December, while the principal speech in behalf of the river development came from Aiken of rock-ribbed Republican Vermont.

Once the impetus for reform came from the farm belt. Today it originates in the industrial east.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:26. Sun rises tomorrow 6:36.

It is said that war is hell. Housecleaning is also about that.

Acting dumb is often worse than talking dumb.

Society is made up of two classes, those who get more than they earn and those who earn more than they get.

In the beginning the earth was made round and it has never been square since.

Men who take things easy are often taken for easy things.

Over a period of several years, a patient minister had taught one of his parishioners to read. After his lessons were finished, he was unable to call on him for several months and when at last he did, he found only the wife at home.

"How is John?" he asked. "And how does he progress with his reading?"

"O, nicely. Thank you sir."

"I suppose he can read his Bible quite comfortably now?"

"Bible sir!" exclaims the woman. "Lord bless your soul, why John was out of the Bible and into the newspapers long ago!"

Overheard on the bus: "I don't care how much people talk if they will only say it in a few words."

The girl who looks good enough to eat probably does.

People have to learn a lot of things after they get a college education.

Folks who can't afford to get married usually do.

Competition makes easy jobs hard to find.

A St. Louis merchant was on a ten-day buying trip in New York and on the fifth day he received a telegram notifying him that his wife was very ill.

To enable him to decide whether or not to rush home, he wrote his doctor and asked for full details. . . and promptly received this answer: "No danger stop your wife has had a child stop if we can keep her from having another she will be all right."

The mystification of the agitated husband was not removed until a "repeat message" told him that his wife had a "chill."

We give advice by the pound but take it by the ounce.

Years ago, serenades under the window of a loved one at midnight was just the thing. Nowadays, any girl who is popular enough to be serenaded is never at home at midnight.

Trying to do everything is apt to result in doing nothing.

About the only way to overcome big evils is to tolerate little ones.

A philosopher is one who knows what to do except when he has to do it himself.

Roosevelt Stays Within Circle

WASHINGTON, April 10. MR. ROOSEVELT'S extraordinary disinclination to bring new men into his Administration has become one of the really interesting—not to say, baffling—things in Washington. The latest instance was the refusal to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Byrnes as War Mobilizer by naming Mr. Fred Vinson, who had not yet become settled in the job of Federal Loan Administrator, to which he had been appointed hardly a fortnight ago.

THIS CASE as a climax to a series of inside selections well calculated to create a condition of inbreeding not easy to regard as healthy. Without going back of the present term, now less than three months old, a number of instances can be cited—among them the appointment of Mr. Wallace as Secretary of Commerce and of Mr. Aubrey Williams as Rural Electrification Administrator; the appointment of Senator Guy Gillette, of Iowa, defeated for re-election, as head of the Surplus Products Commission; the shifting of Mr. Archibald McLeish from Librarian of Congress to Assistant Secretary of State; the shifting of General Clegg from Deputy War Mobilizer to Civil Director of Postwar Germany.

THEN THERE was the earlier shifting of Mr. Vinson from Economic Stabilizer to Loan Administrator, the shifting of Mr. William H. Davis from chairman to the War Labor Board to Economic Stabilizer; the promotion of Dr. George Taylor from member of the War Labor Board to chairman. This, it will be agreed, is quite a list for three months. If now, as suggested, the President shifts Mr. Leo Crowley from Federal Economic Administrator to take Mr. Vinson's place as Federal Loan Administrator; or shifts Mr. Harold D. Smith from Budget Director, or Mr. Daniel Bell from the Treasury, to take Mr. Vinson's place and then, as is his custom, shifts someone else around to fill the latest vacancy, the record really will be remarkable.

The World and the Mud Puddles

PLAIN DICTATORSHIP

Decision of a Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge confirming the right of a radio union to compel Cecil B. DeMille, producer of a radio program, to pay an assessment of One Dollar for the support of the union's campaign against the "right-to-work" proposition on the California November ballot, and approving DeMille's suspension from the union, opens up a line of speculation. The decision declared that no right of suffrage or discussion was interfered with and that the union's use of the fund collected was proper, although DeMille was personally not in favor of the proposition. Thus a citizen may support a proposal by his vote and voice, but still be compelled to oppose it by use of his money. If his money is effectively used, he nullifies his vote and voice, to an unknown extent, and is forced to aid a cause in which he disbelieves.

If this analysis is correct, there is no reason why any similar organization cannot enforce assessments, not only of One Dollar, but up to many hundreds of dollars, upon its membership to promote causes which they oppose. A civic organization opposed to certain legislation could compel a member favoring it to contribute or get out, regardless of payment of membership fees and dues over a long period. An organization opposing local option or prohibition could compel its members to put up money for opposition purposes, even though they favored such measures. A church organization could compel contributions for certain purposes, regardless of the convictions of those assessed.

Campaigns on issues and candidates nowadays depend largely on money. Perhaps the most effective service the average citizen can make for or against is through financial contribution. If this contribution is used against his convictions he is put in an anomalous position, to say the least.

It may be said in Mr. DeMille's case that he could either have paid his contribution or gotten out of the organization. The actual situation, however, is that he cannot continue as a radio producer outside of the organization, which rigidly controls radio operation. He is penalized by compulsory retirement from his work as a producer.

The issue involved would seem to be important enough to call for final determination.

Frisco Conferees Face Responsibilities
Italian Embassy May Become Lively Again
General Says Germans Will Punish Hitler

By HELEN ESSARY

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, April 10.—There's one little job I'm glad I haven't got, gobbler-up of front row seats that I am.

I'm glad I'm not a delegate to that San Francisco peace-making conference. What a prospect that would be! I can't think of any more appalling responsibility than drawing up a chair at that meeting and making plans for permanent peace.

Plans, did I say? Pretty plans, I meant to say. Pretty plans, though up in the hope of pleasing millions of outraged blood-thirsty, selfish, greedy, bleeding, suffering, victorious, rebellious, triumphant, defeated peoples.

Yes, use all adjectives. Because all the peoples of all the world, conquering and conquered, do have to like the work of the San Francisco conferees, don't they?

Otherwise that next world war of which we are already speaking so jauntily, soon will be upon us. This present struggle has involved so many shades and styles of human beings that the nice words of peace treaty delegates rot down on this lovely parchment or maybe papyrus will have to both soothe and intimidate every form of human life from the tarantula up.

Courage Needed

I am glad I don't have to pretend wisdom in San Francisco. If I were one of those speakers, I would say it would be a supreme honor. I'd be praying to all the gods to give me courage and far-seeing eyes come April 25.

One of the reasons the conference is going to be so difficult to cope with is that it has already been so high up, so glorified. Much more than most things, it is expected of this meeting of troubled, uncertain men and women.

Cheering up the smaller nations who have been known to bring on wars that sent the bigger nations on the quick road to destruction, keeping Latin America calm. There is a technique needed. Making the vanquished glad they were vanquished by such superior people, keeping sharp eyes on those who say they are our blood or land-lease brothers, preserving the American people happy and free from care—these are a few of the chores that await the delegates.

Peace snails, they will need to be made of. Of course, the combination of John F. Baptist, Savannah, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, the Wizard of Oz, Copernicus, Billy Sunday, Father Time and all the Blessed Saints.

Interesting note to be remembered—every American with whom I have discussed the conference says: "It can be made to succeed. Every foreigner has said so. The conference—ah, it will accomplish nothing. It will be what you call a bust."

Italian Leader Arrives

The newly arrived ambassador from Italy, Alberto Tarchiani, is anxious to bring the Italian embassy to life again. One of the most agreeable residences of the foreign representatives in Washington, the embassy was a delightful place to be in the happy pre-war days. Within its walled garden in spring and summer flowers blossomed and fountains trickled contentedly. Indoors, medieval Italian furnishings and tapestries made formal gatherings less formal.

Now, of course, there is no gaiety at the embassy. It looks as if it had been years since anybody lived in the place, although the Swiss legation, neutral custodians of enemy property, save the holding excellent care.

Mrs. Richard K. Sutherland, wife of Maj. Gen. Sutherland, chief of staff for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, is one of the prettiest women in town. Cameo features, sleek black hair, smart clothes, attractive manner. Truly a gem. You like her without a struggle.

One returned general says the Allies won't have to punish Hitler. "Leave him to his own people. They will do a good job of it. If they fail, they'll tear him to pieces. Also the devastation of German cities and the horrors we have properly inflicted on the German nation have broken the famous Teutonic spirit. The German people will beg for peace for generations to come."

Don't say "nonsense." Don't argue with me. I'm only quoting a returned fighter.

FREEDOM'S COUNTRY

They know who walk the streets—
Those boys of ours, wherever they be—
How good the joys of freedom are,
How sweet precious—liberty!

They know—on the streets they tread
They've looked on children begging bread.

They've looked on mothers pale and thin
And hungry, desperate and cold,
Hugs out, some trifling aid to win
And hushes into rubble blown people old.

They've heard uncounted tales of woe—
Far worse than those by writers penned.
Oh, all too well they've come to know
How deep in violence tyrants end!

How pitiful and mean the state
Of people ruled by fear and hate.

God's country ours! Where children play
And laugh and learn to dance and sing.
Where fear and want don't spoil the day
Where hunger's not a common thing.

Good land of church and school and car,
Where all the joys of freedom are!

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PLEASE allow me to offer some suggestions on ways of preventing delinquency, building good character and citizenship.

1. Let more parents try hard not only to stick together but to tie together amicably, companionably and cooperatively, especially for the sake of the children. This recent merely happen. It comes through effort and self-discipline.

2. Let those parents who believe they are good citizens and upright persons try to provide their children with a family atmosphere of calmness, understanding and love, and help each child to feel worthy and emotionally secure. There's no limit to the amount of thought and effort which can be expended profitably to these ends. Let each parent try to bring out the best in the other parent and in the children, and treat every member of the family as a sacred personality. Let it be a family where they all enjoy one another's fellowship.

3. Let the home be a place where the children learn to do and make things for fun. They may do this (Continued on Next Page)

Here's where the HELLCAT gets its "Pounce"

FROM Brest to Bastogne and beyond, the story was the same.

The speed of the M-18 Hellcat—its ability to go anywhere—the hard, straight striking power of its 76-mm. gun—all this spelled bad news for enemy armor and strong points.

Now one secret of the M-18's lightning-like agility has been adopted as standard for all American track-laying vehicles.

For in addition to ample power—a principle long basic in Buick design—the Hellcat is marked by a wholly new kind of torsional springing that does several things—all good.

It smooths the ride, much as Buick Coil springing leveled the easy stride of your prewar Buick. Crews can travel at higher speed and remain ready for combat when they arrive.

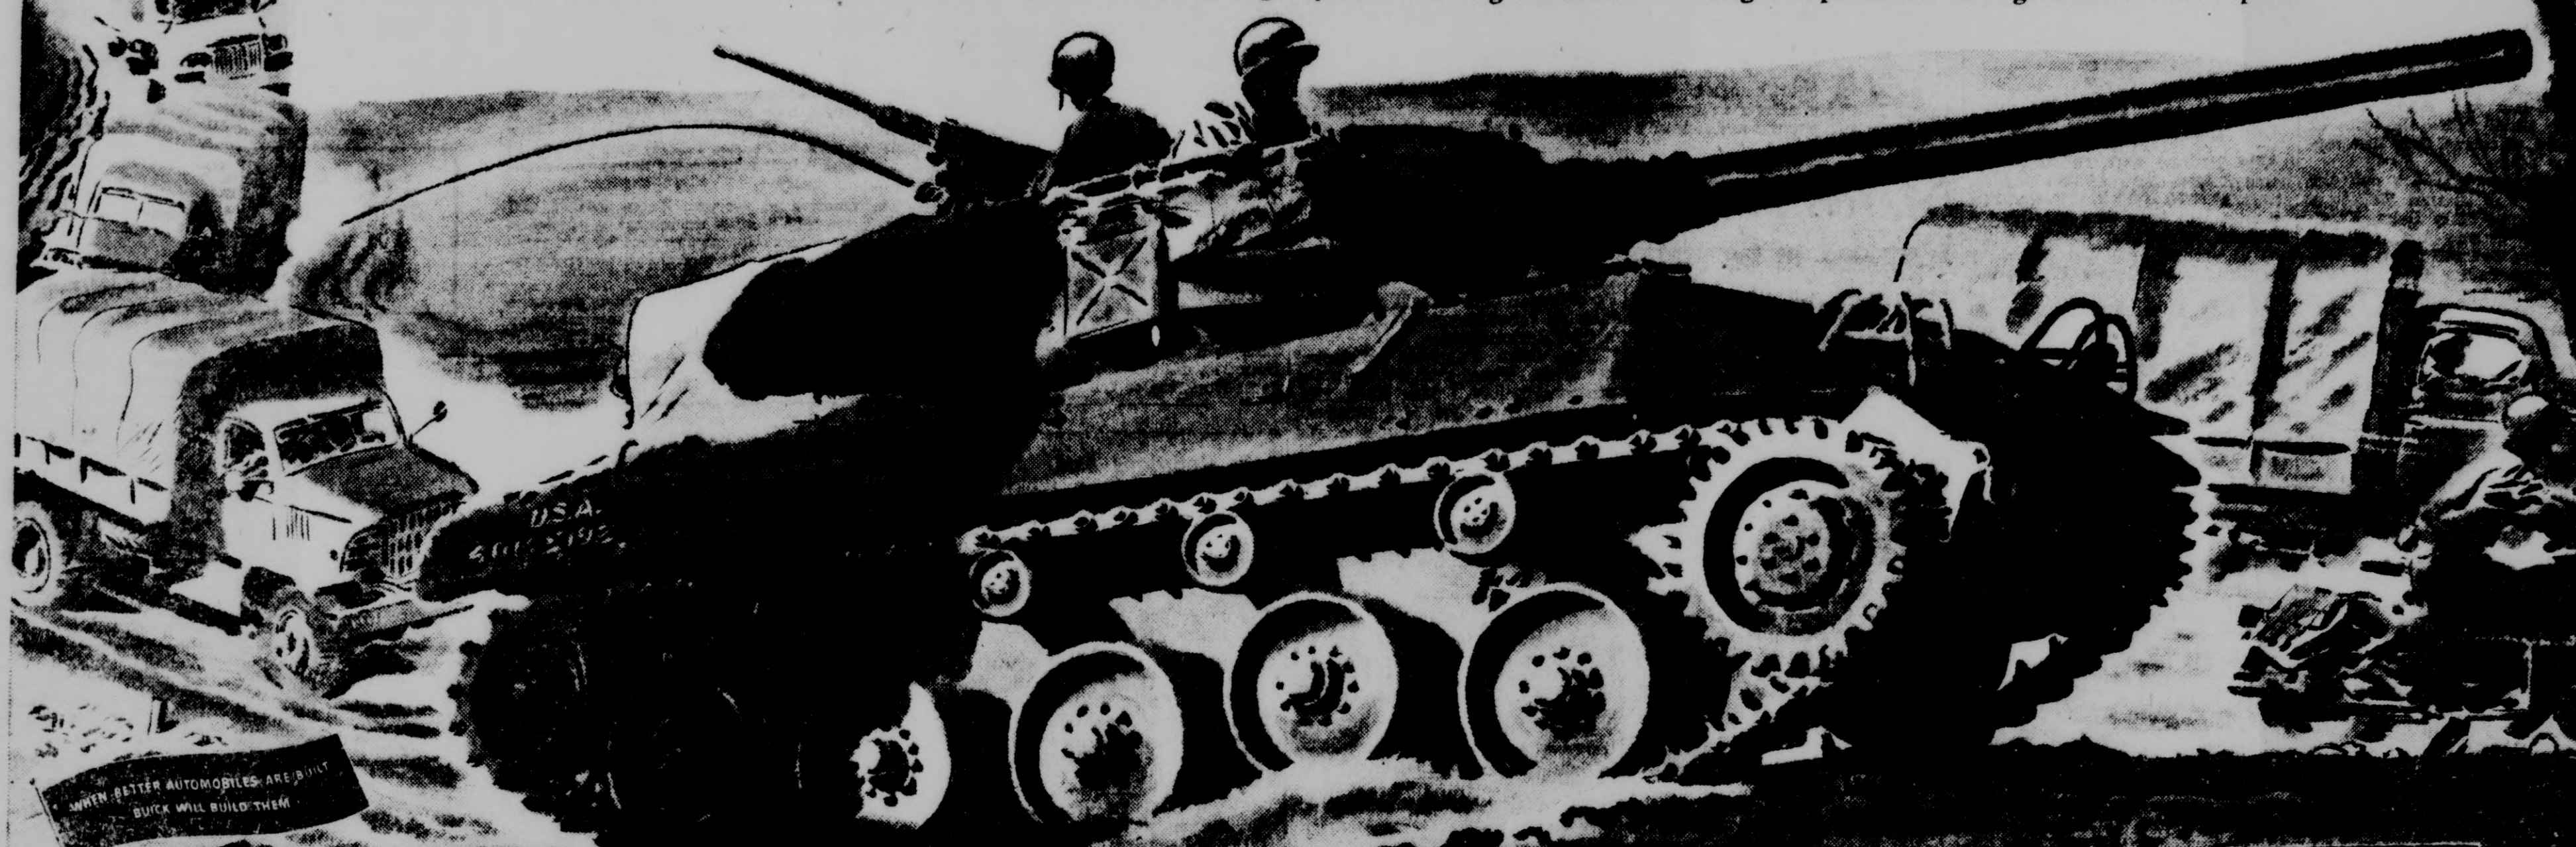

It provides constant traction. Because all bogey wheels bear down hard, the Hellcat goes anywhere—even crosses fields in pace with wheeled vehicles on nearby roads.

And it means high speed. Holding tracks ever taut, this springing permits speeds as high as 55 miles an hour—speeds greater than many types of land cargo carriers.

Now Ordnance officers, who worked with Buick men to bring the M-18 into being, have standardized on this type of springing for all American tanks and track-laying vehicles. It will be a feature of both new vehicles and improved versions of older ones.

It has met the test—proved its worth. And no one is more tickled than Buick to see this Buick good-thing incorporated in other good American weapons.

New Wilmington Lieutenant With 'Panzer Dusters'

Lieut. Robt. D. Dicks Takes Part In Many Thrilling Air Missions Against Nazis

(Special To The News)

A NINTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER-BOMBER BASE, France—Second Lieut. Robert D. Dicks, 361 Maple street, New Wilmington, Pa., gave bombed and strafed with the "Panzer Dusters" fighter squadron when they attacked marshalling yards, destroying 60 railway cars, many of them loaded with explosives and oil preparing to be shipped to German troops; destroying 10 motor transports; destroying four locomotives; damaging 70 additional railway cars and starting a large oil fire which demolished the warehouse storing the oil.

The "Panzer Dusters" squadron started ammunition and oil fires at the first marshalling yard they attacked. Their bombs struck railway cars loaded up with these other materials and the fires and explosions spread rapidly. It was also believed that they struck German rockets because pilots on the mission reported that "something zoomed up 600 feet into the air and then exploded." After destroying at least 50 of the railway cars and damaging 50 more, and since the marshalling yard and its cars were burning fast, the squadron went on to attack another marshalling yard east of Frankfurt.

Having used all their bombs on the first target the P-47 Thunderbolt pilots strafed their second target thoroughly. They blew up four locomotives, destroyed 10 railway cars, destroyed 10 motor transports resting on railway flat cars, and damaged 20 more railway cars. Lucky misses by one of the pilots ignited an oil warehouse near the marshalling yard, the fire quickly spread over an area of 100 square yards and thick black smoke rose up 3000 feet into the air.

It was one of the most exciting missions I've flown," said Lt. Dicks, who has flown more than 55 combat missions.

Lt. Dicks is an element leader in the "Panzer Dusters" squadron. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Dicks, 261 Maple street, New Wilmington, Pa.

Japanese Are Told Fate Of East Asia Hanging On War

LONDON, April 10.—(INS)—Japan's newly-named foreign minister, Shigenori Togo, told the Nipponese homeand in his first official statement today that the fate of all east Asia hangs on the outcome of the war in the Pacific.

His statement, broadcast over the Tokyo radio, coincided with Okinawa battlefront dispatches to the Domei agency asserting that the fate of Nippon rests upon the outcome of the fighting on that island. Togo asserted that the desire to win the war for the good of all Asia accounts for "the valiant all-out fighting of the entire Japanese nation as a special attack corps."

PITTSBURGH, April 10.—(INS)—Strikes in Western Pennsylvania's bituminous coal fields today gave no indication of having decreased despite reports from Washington that continued negotiation settlement was near.

With steel production in the area already losing at least 30,000 tons daily, a new strike was staged by miners at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's Vesta Mine No. 5, at Vestaburg, returning to the pits yesterday after a back-to-work vote, the 900 miners rejoined strikers who voted "no contract—no work" at the corporation's other mines.

Sixty-one mines were down through strikes yesterday. With 17,390 miners idle, the district's war-needed tonnage loss was estimated at 90,285 tons by the solid fuels administration, Pittsburgh office.

alone, with other members of the family, and with playmates.

4. Let all parents put more emphasis on things which don't perish. Let those who are religious try to keep their spiritual dynamo recharged, go with their children to Sunday school and church and prove that their religion makes them lovelier to live with. The child who grows up in a home with some religious ceremonies in which he willingly participates is fortunate.

5. Let the parents, acting together, train the youngster from his early years in the meaning of NO (rarely heard) as the alphabet of character and citizenship, of respect for the rights of others and regard for authority. However, the very young child should not be punished for what a parent wishes him to do.

6. Let the child, as he grows beyond five or six, be required to do some work around the house, sharing in the home chores and drudgeries.

Curfew Law

7. Let every home have a curfew law rigidly enforced, by which the child automatically must make a bee-line for the house when the street lights appear. This rule can be lifted gradually during adolescence, but parents should protect their adolescent girls, especially in their early teens.

8. Let parents awake to their own responsibilities and have the courage of their own convictions in order to hold their children to standards of physical and moral safety. Let several million parents get some calcium in their spines and quit acting like rabbits when the 10-year-old says, "Other children don't have to do that."

9. Let parents realize that the more they are looked up to in their community the more responsible they are for the crime or delinquency there, since less-privileged children imitate their sons and daughters.

10. Let parents get wholeheartedly back of the school and the various character building agencies.

11. Let parents, moreover, who have won the affection and esteem of their children, talk to them often at quiet, companionable moments about doing right. Moral advice can be very effective when the child is ready to receive it and the parent emotionally fit to give it.

12. Let the community provide adequate means for wholesome recreation.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

de or go outside for new talent. Certainly, too, it indicates no belief that this Administration, now in its thirteenth year, needs "new blood," though the need is so obvious that few dispute it. The contemplated shift of Mr. Wayne Chatfield Taylor from Under Secretary of Commerce to be head of the Export-Import Bank is entirely in line with the Roosevelt policy of not expanding the circle.

THE NEED for expansion is increasingly apparent to a good many persons here, but it finds no favor with Mr. Roosevelt. Certainly, his most recent appointments all tend in the other direction. Comment upon this is not intended as a reflection upon the character or qualifications of the officials who have thus been shifted from one job to another and then another. Some of them are efficient and capable. But it is worth noting that almost without exception all of these voted for Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term, which does not sustain the nonpartisan note he has so often sounded—but seldom justified—since the war began.

REALIZATION of this Roosevelt distaste for putting new men into administrative posts has stimulated a search for the reasons. These can be listed as follows: (1) Desire to show appreciation of personal friends and good men by promoting them; (2) difficulty of getting conspicuously qualified men from the outside who voted for him; (3) reluctance to arouse the resentment of his sensitive Left wing and labor friends, who can be depended upon to greet the appointment of any anti-New Deal business man with loud wails that the "liberals" have been "betrayed"; (4) inclination to take the easiest way of dealing with domestic situations.

NONE OF these seems particularly sound. All of them together hardly appear to justify the consistent refusal to seek "new blood." But if there are any other explanations they have not yet been advanced. At any rate, the President has proceeded so consistently along the line of inside selections and shifts as to make clear a wish—if not a determination—to keep the important governmental posts in the hands of those who suit him personally and politically. If this meant competency, no one could object—but it just does not.

THERE IS at the moment, a report that in filling this Federal Loan Administrator vacancy which now confronts him, the President, for the first time since his fourth term began, may deviate from his non-expansion policy and confound those who criticize it by taking a man not new in his Administration and who was not a fourth termer. The name of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy is mentioned. It will be interesting to see.

URGE SIX STARS FOR GEN. PERSHING

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS)—Friends of Gen. John J. Pershing were trying today that the veteran general of the armies be given six stars to preserve his superior rank over the officers who were recently made five-star generals.

Confusion has arisen over whether Gen. Pershing, who wore four stars when he last appeared in public, is now out-ranked by the new generals of the Army—George C. Marshall, Douglas MacArthur, Dwight Eisenhower, and H. H. Arnold.

To get their tomatoes to the United States without delay, planters of the El Monte district of Mexico were permitted to operate trucks at express speed, and highway police were instructed to pass the trucks freely.

Happy Relief When You're Sluggish, Upset

WHEN CONSTIPATION makes you feel punk as the dickens, brings on stomach upset, sour taste, gassy discomfort, take Dr. Caldwell's famous medicine to quickly pull the trigger on lax "cinders" and help you feel bright and chipper again.

DR. CALDWELL'S is the wonderful senna laxative contained in good old Syrup Pepsin to make it so easy to take. MANY DOCTORS use peppin preparations in prescriptions to make the medicine more palatable and agreeable to take. So be sure your laxative is contained in Syrup Pepsin.

INSIST ON DR. CALDWELL'S—the favorite of millions for 50 years, and feel that wholesome relief from constipation. Even finicky children love it.

Mt. Jackson Juniors Rehearse Comedy For Evening Of April 12

Class Will Present 'Second Fiddle' Story Of Groom With Two Brides, On Thursday

Nine juniors of Mt. Jackson high school are going through the final rehearsals of the matrimonial comedy, "Second Fiddle," which they will present in the auditorium of the school Thursday evening, April 12.

With the setting laid in an elegant white home in Florida, the play centers around a young man who is afraid of his approaching marriage to a society belle, and who allows his friends to persuade him to rehearse the wedding with one of the girls who is also a guest at the home.

After the rehearsal the groom finds to his dismay that the bride is not the girl he has chosen, but a disagreeable fiancée, but also an unwanted bride. Surviving many trying incidents, including pacifying a mother-in-law and taking poison, the hero finally wins the wife he wants and, of course, they live happily ever after.

The students who act out this lively farce are: Eleanor McFate as Minnie Carson; Mary Helen Kenny and Marian Baker; Alice Gwin as Joan Keeler; Robert Huston as Wilbur; Marian Paden as Janet Williams; George Thompson as Harold Werpel; Geraldine Perry as Dorothy Van Straaten; Betty Reher as Mrs. Keeler; and Robert Hayes as Mr. Crocker.

Advertising managers are Hazel M. Kuhn and Elizabeth Wilson.

Seek Volunteers To Aid In Tree Planting Work

An appeal is made today by Boy Scout Executive Thomas G. Allen and County Controller Andrew M. Dadds to volunteers to assist in the planting of the balance of 25,000 trees received from the state by the Lawrence Conservators for reforesting the land formerly owned by the Lehigh Portland Cement Company. The planting will be done Thursday afternoon.

The appeal is for men and boys. Each crew of planters is composed of six to eight boys with a man in charge of them to direct the work. Last Saturday about 50 Boy Scouts were on the job with men directing the work but there are still about 10,000 evergreens to plant.

This is a project worthy of any citizen's time. It is a bit of long range planning which years from now will result in thousands of pine trees being available for use here. Men and boys who wish to aid this worthy project are asked to report at the corner of Cascade street and the County Line road to Andrew M. Dadds or Thomas G. Allen, at or shortly after three o'clock Thursday afternoon April 12 and bring with them a mattock or a shovel.

Pvt. Fred H. Shields Wounded In Germany

Fred H. Shields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shields of Slippery Rock R. D. 2, was wounded February 13 in Germany and is now hospitalized in a hospital in Wales. He has received the Purple Heart for wounds he received.

Fred, a brother of John R. Shields, who was lost in the first missions made by the B-24s over two Jima from Saipan last August 14, left for the service that day and trained at Camp Wheeler, Ga. He was home during the Christmas holidays and had arrived in Luxembourg on February 3. In a letter that he wrote to his parents on March 12, he said that he had not received any mail since leaving the States on December 30. A sister, Alene, is a cadet nurse at the Ames Memorial hospital, now affiliating in Chicago.

Approve Action For Farm Labor Freeze

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS)—The senate military committee today approved a house-passed resolution designed to prevent drafting of farmers and to keep them "frozen" on the farms.

The action was taken as a result of indications that general manpower legislation, which contained the same provision, will be allowed to die.

The measure is designed to revoke a directive to local draft boards by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service.

Pilot Sees Fight Adrift On Raft Among Jap Ships

Shot Down, Navy Flier
Watches Bombing From Too-Close Vantage
Point

By JOHN R. HENRY

ABOARD ADM. TURNER'S FLAGSHIP OFF OKINAWA, April 9.—(Delayed)—A Navy carrier pilot, Lieut. (jg) William E. Delaney of Detroit, Mich., who bombed the Japanese fleet south of Kyushu told today how he crouched behind his tiny life-raft almost in the middle of the enemy fleet and watched the battered ships in their death throes.

The 26-year-old flier was shot down after he had unleashed four 500-pound bombs from his torpedo plane at the Yamato class battleship which subsequently sank. Lieut. Richard L. Simms of Atlanta, Ga., one of the Navy flying boats pilots who figured in the rescue of Delaney, said the remnant of the Japanese fleet limped away from the battle scene in a black pall of smoke, leaving heavy oil slicks in their wakes.

Adrift Four Hours

Delaney who spent about four hours adrift didn't even try to describe how happy he was when a big flying boat swooped down to pick him up. You could guess how he must have felt then, because he said:

"A Japanese destroyer was headed toward me, and I was afraid they would shoot me."
"I suppose they didn't see me, although they came within 300 yards before turning away. I guess they thought there wasn't anything there but an empty raft."

After his plane was hit he parachuted and soon drifted almost into the middle of the Japanese fleet, finding himself between the heavily battered battleship and a destroyer. From that vantage point, he saw the second wave of United States planes swarm over the stricken enemy force.

Great Explosion

"They belted the battleship again," he said, describing a huge column of black smoke gushing up from the vessel.

"I also saw a great explosion on the horizon but couldn't tell what kind of a ship it was that had been hit," Delaney said.

The Japanese sailors already had begun to abandon the battleship, he said. Even before the second strike had been made. A destroyer had gone alongside the crippled man-of-war to take off survivors, but pulled away from the task with the approach of new waves of Yank planes.

"The battleship was a mass of smoke and fire, and a destroyer was hauling survivors up out of the water nearby it. You could really see the Nips swimming for life down there and clinging to wreckage," he continued.

"The Japs fired at us while we made the rescue, but they missed," he said.

Two Prisoners Of War Recaptured

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—(INS)—Two German prisoners of war, who escaped from a factory at Carlisle, were captured today by Carlisle police, the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Philadelphia announced.

The fugitives, Erich Pauschert and Heinz Oster, were apprehended on a road about two miles from Carlisle by Chief Charles Strock of the Carlisle police, and two of his deputies.

The prisoners were working at the factory near their camp, when they broke away from their guards.

Before the beginning of World War II there were more Americans in Porto Rico than in the combined states of Nevada, Wyoming, New Mexico, Arizona, and Vermont.

ACHES EASING UP

The muscle aches which were so prevalent among a lot of court house attaches on Sunday morning are now about gone the latest medical report shows. On Saturday Judge W. Walter Braham, County Controller Andrew M. Dodds, Deputy County Treasurer Don Neal and Deputy Prothonotary Elmer Nesbitt had a session with mat-tocks planting evergreens on the old Lehigh Portland Cement property.

In the hands of a good man a mactock is an efficient tool but in the hands of a sedentary worker it brings on muscular aches and pains. The gentlemen mentioned did a good job of tree planting and the drug stores say they expect more arnica in shortly.

BACK FOR SENTENCE

Brought back from Reading, Pa., Raymond Gonsalves pleaded to a charge of immorality and non-support of a child. He was sentenced to pay $25 per month for the support of the child and spend six months in the county jail.

VITAL STATISTICS

The vital statistics return for the Ellwood City district for 1944 has been received by County Controller Andrew M. Dodds. It shows that H. Loy Sumner, registrar for Ellwood City, Wayne township, Perry township and Ellport reported 148 deaths and 477 births for the year.

TAX COLLECTOR RESIGNS

W. Howard Gilmore, tax collector for North Beaver township, has resigned his post and the county commissioners have named Howard A. Butler to succeed him.

MANY FILINGS

Monday saw a lot of candidates around the court house. Men and women who are candidates for nomination at the June 19 primary filed their petitions with W. A. Eakin, chief clerk to the Board of Elections and scores of petitions came in. The bulk of the offices, particularly election board officers, will be blank on the ballot and candidates will be nominated by write-ins.

Appomattox Day Observed Monday

Daughters And Granddaughters Of
G.A.R. Veterans Celebrate
Historical Event

On Monday, at noon, daughters and granddaughters of the Grand Army of the Republic gave a splendid dinner in the Knights of Malta hall, East Washington street, in commemoration of Appomattox Day. Mrs. Lulu Schetrom was chairlady of arrangements.

All joined in the singing of "America" and Rev. O. W. Hurst pastor of the First Baptist church, gave the invocation.

The Link Between

A LOVED ONE'S THOUGHTS AND YOUR MAIL-BOX

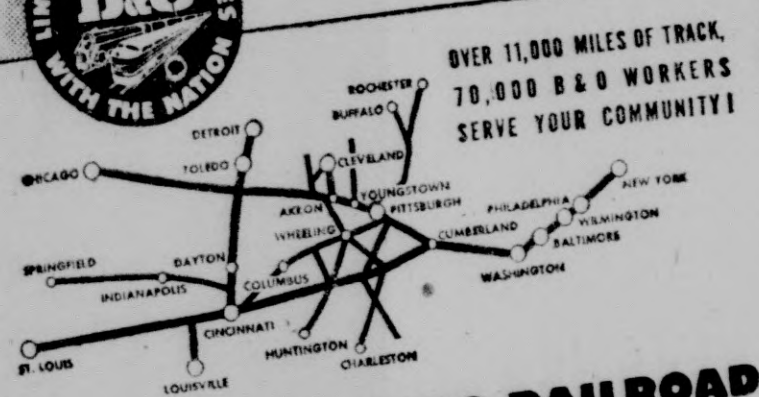

• A lonely outpost... a strange land... a boy scribbles his thoughts on a scrap of paper. It's a letter home—a letter that will be in "Mom's" hands in a short time.

From the boy's foreign station the letter moves by ship or plane to the U. S. A. Then, it is hurried aboard a speedy train and raced to "Mom's" mail-box.

Every day, the railroads, as the "link between", carry millions of letters from loved ones. Actually, friends are as near as your mail-box... for America's railroads have turned the United States into one great neighborhood-nation.

Linking 13 great states with the nation, the Baltimore & Ohio is the dependable, much-used "link" for millions of people residing along its 11,000 miles of track. Lieut. Porada Has Harrowing Time Bombing Tokyo

New Castle Flier Tells Of Thrilling Time When B-29 Is Attacked By Japs

ARMY AIR FORCES, Pacific Headquarters.—"We were ready to ditch the plane right in the middle of Tokyo Bay if we hadn't lost the prop and the fire hadn't gone out."

These were the words of Second Lieutenant Edward Porada, of New Castle, Pennsylvania, pilot of the B-29 Superfortress "Holy Joe" as he described a harrowing bombing mission over Tokyo.

The trouble started over the target, an industrial area just outside Tokyo, when the entire formation was attacked by 75 to 100 fighter planes.

"We were on the bomb run," said Lieutenant Porada. "Seven Jap fighter pilots made a coordinated, head-on attack, coming at us one after another. The right inboard engine was hit by three 20 millimeter shells, one exploding in a tank which fed oil to the engine. All the oil immediately was lost."

"The prop on the damaged engine started running away. The engine became overheated and burst into flame. In an effort to put out the fire and spin off the prop we made a deep dive—at more than 400 miles an hour, dropping from over 25,000 feet directly over Tokyo and leveling off 12,000 feet over Tokyo Bay."

"The dive extinguished the fire but it didn't spin off the prop. We tried to feather the prop but couldn't, and the engine caught fire again. We went into another dive, dropping to about 8,000 feet. This time the fire went out and the prop whirled off, ripping a long, wide hole in the fuselage. We were ready to ditch the plane right in the middle of Tokyo Bay if we hadn't lost the prop and the fire hadn't gone out."

But the danger was still not over. The gash the propeller had made in the bomber's fuselage measured 10 feet in length and two feet in breadth at the widest point.

Split in Two at Base.
"Some of us were fearful the plane would break apart in mid-air," Lieutenant Porada said. "Actually it did split in two the moment we came to a stop at our Saipan base. Three crew members in the rear of the fuselage had to descend by sliding down a rope. Other than a shaking up and a few scratches, no one was injured."

The mission, Lieutenant Porada's seventh with the XXI Bomber Command, embraced 17 hours, 45 minutes. It stands as probably the longest mission flown by Superfortresses since the aerial assault against the Japanese mainland as launched from the Marianas.

On other missions, Lieutenant Porada has participated in bombings of the Kawasaki Aircraft plants at Akashi, a Mitsubishi factory at Nagoya, and on strikes against military targets in the Tokyo area.

Lieutenant Porada, whose wife, Betty, and son, James, reside at 304 South Ray street, New Castle, and whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porada, live at 1024 Rebecca street, New Castle, was graduated from New Castle High school in 1938.

Protest Plan To Manufacture Beer For U. S. Soldiers

CHICAGO, April 10.—(INS)—The prohibition national committee voiced its sharp disapproval today of the army's plan to take over a brewery in France and manufacture beer for the American soldiers.

Edward E. Blake, chairman of the committee, protested the project in a telegram to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and added:

"It seems incredible that money loaned the government by self-sacrificing bond buyers should be used to create the beer-drinking habit among soldiers or to promote the financial interests of the brewers."

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND

HQ. April 10.—(INS)—Allied troops tightened their grip on the communication arteries feeding strategic Rangoon today with the capture of Thazi, a main center on the railroad from Rangoon to Mandalay.

The town, now wrecked by Allied bombings, controls a 400-mile route to Keg Tung in northern Thailand, one of Japan's main supply routes to forces in this theater.

The communique announcing the capture of Thazi also announced that the Japanese suffered heavy casualties in their loss of Meiktila 14 miles to the west. Several guns were captured in that fighting.

POLITICAL FIGHTS SHOULD BE PIE NOW

PITTSBURGH, April 10.—(INS)—The fury of a political scrap today held few fears for William J. Stokan, 24-year old Lawrenceville war veteran, who filed a Republican petition for alderman.

Stokan, a brother-in-law of former welterweight boxing champion Fritzie Zivie, was honorably discharged from the Army after being wounded in Tunisia and Sicily.

"After those campaigns, brother, I can take anything," said the veteran.

Urges U. S. Hold Permanently To Jap Island Bases

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS)—Congress was urged Monday to go on record in advance of the San Francisco security conference—as favoring permanent control of conquered Japanese islands “bought and paid for with American blood.”

Similar resolutions were introduced by Reps. Hebert (D) La., and Mahon (D) Tex., to give congress “the opportunity to express itself before not after, any treaties, deals, or trades are entered into.”

All Pacific Islands captured by America which previously were mandated to Japan by the League of Nations or were owned by Japan should be annexed by the United States and controlled by the Navy of the United States,” Hebert declared.

Mahon, in a separate resolution, demanded that the Stars and Stripes never be lowered from Mount Suribachi at Iwo Jima.

“Why don't we let the whole world know now that we never propose to see the American flag hauled down from Iwo Jima or any other blood-bought key bases in the Pacific?” he asked.

“The world ought to know our position in this matter... we ought not to have to buy these bases with American money and blood more than once.”

“I propose that congress go on record as favoring the retention of these key bases for our country as a guide to the peace makers when the fate of America in the Pacific is being considered at the peace table. Certainly, we should make no commitments now that would preclude our taking such a position at the end of the war.”

Charles H. Mort, Petty Officer 2-C, has returned to his base in Philadelphia, after spending 30 days leave visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mort of Wilmington road. Charles recently returned from the Pacific where he spent 14 months service aboard a P. C. ship. He has been in the service three years. His sister, Hilda Mort, Army Nurse, has been stationed in France for sixteen months.

Pvt. Mary Nocera, WAC, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Nocera, 614 Pearson street, is stationed at DeMott, Pa., following her basic training at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga. She is now attending clerk school. Pvt. Nocera enlisted on the third anniversary of Pearl Harbor day, and departed for service on January 3 of this year.

Pte. Joseph J. D'Aleandro has arrived in France, according to his wife, Mrs. Joseph D'Aleandro of Wampum. Overseas four months, he is attached to the Medical Corps.

Now taking pre-commissioning training at the Naval Training station at Norfolk, Va., is S. 2-C Sam Don Martello, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Rose Martello, 208 East Cherry street. He will serve aboard a destroyer of the Atlantic fleet.

Sgt. William H. Walker has arrived somewhere in Germany with his railroad battalion, according to his wife, Mrs. Iona Walker, 322 Shaw street. Sgt. Walker was recently stationed in France. He is the son of Albert Walker of East Grant street.

Staff Sgt. J. Monsey, 23, flew attack on the key rail junction at Kitzingen, Germany, for which his group, the 96th Bombardment group, was commended by the commanding general of the Third Air Division. Sgt. Monsey, son of John Monsey, 826 Chestnut street, and husband of Margaret Burkes Monsey, 209 Boyles avenue, is a gunner on a B-17 Flying fortress.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kennehan, 1007 Dewey avenue, have received word from their son, Sgt. Joseph E. Kennehan, that the 77th Tank Battalion, of which he is a tank commander, was the first tank battalion to cross the Rhine river on the Ludendorff bridge at Remagen, Germany, just three days before the bridge collapsed, killing 200 men. The 77th Tank Battalion is with the 78th Division of Gen. Hodges' First Army.

He recently received his diploma after 17 days training for expert rifleman with the infantry at Camp Wheeler, Ga. At the conclusion of his furlough he will report at San Francisco, Calif.

'No Drinking At San Francisco' Is Demand Of WCTU

PITTSBURGH, April 10.—(INS)—There should be no whiskey drinking at la Churchin, nor swilling of vodka in the Russian manner at the San Francisco conference, it was asserted today by the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Vodka and wine—totaling 14,000 bottles—were on the table at breakfast, lunch and dinner at the Yalta conference. WCTU Legislation Director Elizabeth Smart, who fears a “barroom peace” has written to Pennsylvania President Mrs. Ella R. Black.

“World diplomacy should be carried on with clear heads and moral sincerity if we are to expect a lasting peace,” she added.

Another Escaped Convict Captured

Detectives Fire Seven Shots At Fugitive In Gun Battle At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—(INS)—William Russell, one of the 12 convicts who tunneled out of the Eastern Penitentiary last week, lay seriously wounded in a Philadelphia hospital today—seven police bullets in his body marking the price he paid for the plot he helped engineer.

Only three desperadoes remained at large today following Russell's capture, and police continued their unrelaxed manhunt to track them down.

Russell, captured in a stolen sail-or-suit, was mowed down by two detectives who were waiting for him at his girl's house in the Frankford section of Philadelphia.

The convict fired a harmless shot when he spied the detectives on the parlor sofa, then doubled up as their service revolvers sent seven bullets in his body.

Russell had been friendly with the girl before being sent to prison on a 15-30 year burglary sentence in 1943, and police believed he would attempt to get in touch with her in an attempt to obtain money.

Ton Of Meat On Garbage Dump Was Bad, Says Sheriff

World's record for steel making. For the fourth year in a row, U. S. Steel has broken the world's record for steel making. Its steel production in 1944 was boosted to 30,800,000 tons. This was the largest tonnage in any year of U. S. Steel's history.

Average weekly earnings of wage earners in 1944 were $67.80—an increase of 53% over 1941. There was no increase during this period in the rate of dividends paid stockholders for supplying an average of $5,500 of tools or facilities per worker.

It is significant that U. S. Steel through the combined efforts of workers and management is producing the largest volume in its history but operating at the lowest profit of any large production year.

KOENIGSBERG

The fall of Koenigsberg, long beleaguered capital of East Prussia, while discounted since the city was first encircled by Soviet forces in January, comes as an ominous portent for Germany at this particular critical juncture of the war.

For just as the Reich is now gasping under the tightening stranglehold of Anglo-American and Russian armies now reportedly within only 150 miles of each other, it was at Koenigsberg that the Germans first experienced the junction of allied air attacks from the west and from the east three years ago.

In July of that year Russian mass-bombing assaults on Koenigsberg—then hundreds of miles behind Russian lines—and simultaneous British air attacks on Danzig, 30 miles to the west, marked virtual merging of Anglo-American and Soviet aerial attack.

The onetime Hanseatic town of Koenigsberg long has been an important naval and military fortress and its protected harbor on the Prezel river early made the town important commercially East Prussia, of which it is the capital, was separated from the rest of Germany by the 1919 Versailles treaty which established the “Polish corridor” to the Baltic.

Officials are concerned as Mexico City's suicide wave indicates a new record for this type of violent death. The series of self-inflicted fatalities has continued for weeks. Some of the deaths of mothers are attributed to despair over the strain of lining up for fuel and other household necessities for hours at a time.

PULPWOOD PINCH TO CUT CIVILIAN PAPER SUPPLY

HARRISBURG, April 10.—Pennsylvanians will feel the pinch of growing pulpwood shortages during the next few weeks as domestic supplies of familiar paper products are further restricted to meet the expanded needs of the Armed Services, James A. Kell, secretary of forests and waters and chairman of Governor Martin's Emergency Production Committee on Forest Products Production, warned today.

Curtailments recently ordered by the War Production Board will affect every citizen and every department of domestic life, Kell said. He coupled his statement with an appeal to farmers, producers and suppliers of pulpwood and lumber to exert every effort in increasing production of these vital raw materials, first for the urgent requirements of the Army and Navy and to assure reasonable supplies of essential civilian items made from both.

Miss Mary Wood Dies At Sharon

Word has been received here of the death of Miss Mary A. Wood, of 528 Irvine avenue, Sharon, on April 6, following an extended illness.

Miss Wood, daughter of the late Thomas Wood and Rosanna Jones Wood, was born in New Castle, but spent most of her life in Sharon. She was a graduate of Sharon high school in 1894, and taught school in that city for 46 years, retiring as principal of the South Water building two years ago. She was a member of the First Baptist church, Sharon.

Two sisters survive, Mrs. Julia Pew, Sharon, and Mrs. Salina Holder, Freeport, O.

Paris Paper Claims Plot To Assassinate Gen. Chas. De Gaulle

PARIS, April 10.—(INS)—The Paris newspaper "Le Populaire" today reported a plot to assassinate Gen. Charles De Gaulle, provisional president of France.

Inquiries of the Surete National, the French investigation department, today failed to confirm the report of the plot.

Official police quarters said the minister for air, Charles Tillon, last night ordered the arrest of two air force officers, Castandet and Dionard, charged with "conspiring against the security of the state."

They were found in possession of arms, but contrary to the newspaper's report police said it has not been proved that they were also in possession of a detailed plan to assassinate General De Gaulle.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. James A. Galtz (R) Allegheny, would authorize boards of directors to fix contributions.

New York City was first divided into wards in 1683, each of the six wards with an alderman.

Box Campaign At Central Christian In Second Week

Having begun Monday, April 2, the Box Evangelistic Party of St. Petersburg, Fla., has ended one week of its campaign with the Central Christian church, Southside, Pennsylvania and Long avenues.

On April 2, Bible School night, the Men's Bible class won the attendance award, and F. L. Downs, teacher of the Men's Bible class, received a New Testament as an award for the Men's attendance.

Thursday was Ladies Night and a good attendance was present, but on the following evening, Men's Night, the men beat the record of the ladies Thursday night attendance.

The story hour in the afternoon has been splendid. There have been 150 boys and girls attending these meetings with Miss Phyllis Box in charge. Miss Box paints a picture each night and it is given to the one present who brings the most strangers. Mrs. Alex Cowmeadow won the pictures twice during the past week.

At the services special musical numbers have been presented by the church choir under the direction of Dave Lewis.

The Box team will continue each evening at 7:30 at Central Christian church until after April 22.

Cpl. John E. Piatt Heads Heroic Rescue In Face Of Gunfire

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy.
—Cpl. John E. Piatt of New Castle, Pa., and Pfc. Charles L. Wardwell of Brockton, Mass., voluntarily helped evacuate casualties when Germans, firing at wounded on stretchers, cut down a regular litter-bearer on the Fifth Army front in northern Italy recently.

When the Yanks suffered a number of casualties during an attack, two regular litter teams went out to get the wounded. As the aid men neared the casualties, the Germans opened up and hit nearly every one of the stretcher bearers with two machine guns which they had set up.

Cpl. Piatt was in charge of the two four-man volunteer litter teams which then went out in the face of the fire. The volunteers had to improvise litters from packboards and mountain jackets because the regular stretchers were with the men who were wounded.

The men were serving with the 85th Mountain Infantry Regiment of the 10th "Mountain" Division.

Legislators May Double Mileage Rate

HARRISBURG, April 10.—(INS)—The Senate received today a House-approved measure designed to double the mileage rate paid legislators for travel to the state capital.

The measure, co-sponsored by Republican Reps. Adam T. Bower of Northumberland, and George W. Huntley Jr. of Cameron, would boost from five to ten cents the amount paid lawmakers for each circular mile of travel. Members of the current assembly would not be eligible for the increase.

Quarterly Social Security Tax Due

First Quarter Returns Due On Or Before April 30; Manager Stresses Accuracy

As the time for filing another quarterly social security tax return approaches, Edward J. Sinder, manager of the New Castle social security board office, urged all workers to be sure that their employer has a record of their correct social security account number.

Mr. Sinder said that the employer must have a record of the correct social security account number in order to report properly the worker's wages for social security purposes. The wages so reported are credited by the social security board to each employee's individual wage account.

Mr. Sinder pointed out that proper crediting can be insured only if the employer has the worker's correct name and social security number. If a worker has changed his or her name through marriage or for some other reason, the social security board should be notified by the completion of a card, "Employee's Request for Change in Records". These cards may be obtained from the New Castle office.

Practically all employers, Mr. Sinder said, have learned the importance of reporting correctly their employee's account numbers and names as well as their wages. But occasionally an employee's account number will be missing from an employer's report or the number will be slightly incorrect, or the employee's name will be spelled wrong. "In these cases," he said, "we must ask the employer to check back on his records and supply the correct information." Such check-backs consume time and are expensive for the employer and for the social security board.

The next quarterly social security tax return covering January, February and March is due on or before April 30.

Strike Averted On Harmony Lines

PITTSBURGH, April 10.—(INS)—A labor dispute between the Harmony Short Line Bus company and 102 bus drivers today was headed for settlement by the War Labor board after a conference averted a strike at midnight last night.

The board will be asked to interpret a clause relating to payment of overtime work. John M. Irwin, vice president of Local 1607, AFL, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, rescinded the strike call following the conference with company officials and Maj. L. F. O'Brien of the Army, and other government officials.

Germans May Be Abandoning Emden

PARIS, April 10.—(INS)—A dispatch from British 21st army group headquarters today said there were indications that the Germans may be abandoning the naval base of Emden in the face of a British northward advance along the Ems river to isolate Holland from Germany.

TUBERCULOSIS AT HOME
Tuberculosis threatens us all the time. In the very early stages of the disease, the patient does not know that he has it. He may have tuberculosis for a long time before he finds it out.
During this time many others may have been exposed to his disease.
When a person is found to have tuberculosis every effort should be made to protect the others in the home. All should be examined, both old and young.
If possible, all cases of tuberculosis should have some sanitarium care.
The patient must stay at home, he should receive good care. All precautions should be taken to protect the other members of the family.
Our Commonwealth is doing good work along this line. Such efforts deserve continued support.

Road Builder Is Heard By Rotary

Paul B. Reinhold, Vice President Of American Road Builders Association, Speaks Monday

Paul B. Reinhold of Pittsburgh, first vice president of the American Road Builders Association, was the speaker at Monday noon's luncheon meeting of New Castle Rotary club, held in The Castleton, when he talked about "Roads, past, present and future."

Mr. Reinhold compared Hitler's road building efforts with those of this nation, pointing out that the program of one of destruction, while those of our country have proven roads of construction.

Hitler's famous Autobahn, over which he hauled his armies and supplies to invade the nations of Europe, were used for that purpose within 30 days after their completion. This famous road link connecting Berlin with the borders of her country is comparable to the famous Pennsylvania super-highway, Mr. Reinhold stated. Now, however, the Nazi armies are scurrying back to Berlin on this same highway, with our troops in hot pursuit.

Need Much Work
The United States, he stated, has three million miles of highways.

some good, some bad. When the war ends, there will be a great resumption of road building. Pennsylvania alone having planned an expenditure of a hundred million dollars a year for five years. The biggest previous program only called for an expenditure of 73 millions. This was during Governor Fisher's term.

The completion of this program, Mr. Reinhold stated, will bring Pennsylvania to the forefront. Guests of the club from the service included Pfc. Delo R. Lawson, U. S. Marine Corps, former employee of the New Castle Water company, who was injured on Guam when a water truck backed into him during the darkness of the night, breaking both legs and injuring him about the chest. Sgt. Blair Alverson, also of the marines, a former member of the club, was also present. From Deshon annex were Pvt. James Dixon of Gary, Ind., of the first cavalry division, wounded on Leyte Island, and Pfc. Weldon Link of Gouverneur, N. Y., who served with the medical detachment of the 26th Infantry division, wounded near LeMans, France.

Brave little Hearts that will Never Forget!

Hard and cruel have been the lives of young ones in war-torn countries. Children like these—30 million of them—are hungry, homeless, nearly naked. Deaths from exposure are often as many as deaths from starvation. Tuberculosis and typhus run rampant among them.

Never will their brave hearts forget the horrors of war. Never will their grateful hearts forget your gift of the clothing they so sorely need—clothing which now hangs unused in your closet—or reposes forgotten in your attic.

And remember, these pitiful children of today will be our proud partners of tomorrow in keeping the permanent peace we are all fighting for! Isn't their everlasting friendship worth your spare clothing?

America must help clothe about 125 million men, women, and children in Europe alone. This month, America must collect 150 million pounds of serviceable used clothing to take care of part of their needs.

Some of that clothing must be yours—as much as you can spare.

Will you do your share today?

What YOU Can Do!

- 1 Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. This includes: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes, overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, shirts, skirts, jackets, pants, work clothes, gloves, underwear, sleeping garments, robes, sweaters, shawls, and all knit goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.
- 2 Take your contribution to your local collection headquarters, 101 W. Washington street, now . . . or fire stations, schools and churches.
- 3 Support your Local Committee not only with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort, and energy.

Labor-Management 'Peace Charter' Is Given To Congress

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS)—The new labor-management "peace charter" today faced a major test as two industry groups recommended congressional enactment of a five-point anti-strike program.

A joint committee of the National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has reached a provisional agreement on the plan preparatory to submitting it to their respective governing boards.

The so-called peace charter—a set of principles designed to insure amicable industrial relations in the post-war period—was signed by Eric Johnston, U. S. Chamber of Commerce president, and William Green and Phillip Murray, AFL and CIO heads. The NAM, however, was not a signatory.

Confusion Mounts With Cutting Of Wires To Hitler

Prisoners Report Goering Is In Hospital Or Prison; Many Deny Nazi Allegiance

By JOSEPH WILLICOMBE JR. (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE 17TH AIRBORNE DIVISION, Germany, April 10.—All telephone communications between Berchtesgaden, where Adolf Hitler is hiding out, and his rear echelons and front line generals in the west have been cut off.

This was revealed as being the result of allied bombings and allied spearhead thrusts, according to latest reports received by division headquarters.

Goering Kills Self?

In addition, some prisoners of war said that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering either had committed suicide, been hospitalized or was imprisoned.

It was revealed also that after the allies stormed across the Rhine, orders came down from the German high command that the Nazis were to hold at all costs. These German prisoners said they didn't see why they should hold when it was obvious that Germany was already beaten.

They intimated that they considered it merely another ruse to keep up the morale of German troops and their officers, while the Nazi leaders made ready their escape from Germany.

A few said that allied drives and thrusts in all directions confused the Nazis to the extent that "many of our officers don't know what's going on."

General Is Disgusted

They said that a German major general in command of a Ruhr sector had been ordered by the Nazi high command to organize a division from hundreds of scattered units.

When he saw it was hopeless after trying to weld them into a fighting unit, he quit in disgust.

This is understandable when these days you actually see younger German prisoners lifting Volksturm troops onto trucks taking them to allied prison camps, because they are too old to climb aboard themselves.

Troops of the 17th were grimly amused in one instance when they found a letter in the pocket of a captured German. It was from a girl deep inside Germany, and she said that "everything would be all right if only we could prevent the Americans from getting a bridgehead at Wesel." The letter was dated March 7, many days before the jump over the Rhine. It indicated that Germans knew exactly where the landings would be made and apparently figured out everything about them except the actual time.

It is interesting to note that out of 10,000 Germans captured by this division, only 50 of them admitted that they had been members of the Nazi party.

In fact it is difficult these days among the civilians to find a German in Germany. They all claim that they are either Russian, Polish, French or in fact anything but German in their eagerness to make a good impression on the Yanks.

TWO KILLED IN SKIDDING AUTO

POITTSVILLE, Pa., April 10.—(INS)—Two persons were killed and two others injured Monday when the automobile in which they were riding skidded from the highway and overturned five times between Frackville and St. Clair, state police reported today.

The victims were Andrew Kihalik, 35, of St. Clair, and John Andrews, 32, of Frackville. Kihalik died en route to the Ashland State hospital. Treated for injuries were Olga Maonak, 40, of St. Clair, and John Haleski, 34, of Frackville.

CALF WITH TWO BODIES BORN HERE

Folks who reside in Nesheim township have viewed with interest the calf, which was born on the old Justice farm, Mitchell road, now occupied by Archie Glidden. The calf, according to those who have seen it, had one head, but two bodies, and eight legs. It only lived a short time.

Sherwood Robinson Wounded; In U. S.

Wounded On D-Day, Former Local Infantryman Visiting Parents In East Liverpool, O.

Mrs. Lavada Robinson of 710 Sampson street accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Duncan of R. D. 1, left Monday afternoon to visit the former's son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson and family of East Liverpool, Ohio, former residents of this city.

The latter's son Cpl. Sherwood Robinson is on furlough visiting with his parents. He is attached to the infantry corps, and was wounded on D-Day, June 6, 1944, in Normandy, sustaining a shattered knee, being hospitalized in Paris, France.

Two weeks ago he arrived in New York, then to a hospital in Chicago, before coming home on furlough.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

(International News Service)

MECHANICSBURG—No detail is too small for the powers-that-be at the Navy's $40,000,000 supply depot for the Atlantic fleet. They asked the ladies on the roster not to hold time cards between their lips because the lipstick smudged.

PHILADELPHIA—Only in a Democracy could it happen. During a case being heard by the U. S. circuit court of appeals, assemblyman Ellwood J. Turner accused judges of the federal judiciary of being lazy and said their attitudes on government regulations resulted "more from laziness than fairness."

CHESTER—Marcum King was quite a handsome outdoorsy chap who mingled with the Horsey set, was generally well-liked and kept in topnotch physical condition. Imagine the surprise when it was discovered he was an escaped convict from Ohio and had been confined in the Eastern State Penitentiary at Philadelphia where he participated in a recent jailbreak.

NORRISTOWN—Police and federal officers threw a sprag into the alcohol production plans of a local man seeking to help alleviate the alcohol shortage when they seized his 35-gallon still and some mash.

EASTON—Mail carriers face hazards too as they "make their appointed rounds," as Thomas Quigley can testify. He was bitten by a dog and required hospital treatment. The dog? Chained in the yard for 10 days.

SCRANTON—Lt. Col. T. Linus Hoban was expected to be a candidate for re-election to the Lackawanna county common pleas bench while sitting behind the barred wire of a prison camp in Brunswick, Germany. Democrats have announced plans to launch a "sticker" or write in campaign for the imprisoned jurist.

JOHNSTOWN—Officials of the motor sales company were troubled when a thief broke into their garage and took a car for joyriding before abandoning it in an adjacent parking lot but they began to get downright angry when the same thing happened a week later.

HARRISBURG—When a bill seeking to regulate unleashed dogs came up for House action, Rep. Reuben E. Cohen (D-Phila.) solemnly introduced an amendment which started "woof, woof, woof."

At Son's Graduation As Naval Ensign

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Caruthers and son, Gleam, of 900 Rose avenue, and Mrs. Howard Douglas of Lutton street, have returned home after attending the graduation exercises at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., where the former's son, Dale E. Caruthers received his commission as Naval Ensign. After a few days here Ensign Caruthers will report at Naval Torpedo Station, Newport, R. I.

Prisoners Cross 'No-Man's' Land To Reach Allies

Conditions In All Forced Labor Camps Found To Be Terrible, Reporter Relates

By J. E. LEE (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE BRITISH SEVENTH ARMORED DIVISION IN GERMANY, April 10.—Thousands of foreigners impressed into slave labor by the Germans are deserting their posts in Northern Germany today and streaming across no-man's-land to safety behind the British lines.

One large group of Italian workers, employed as forced labor in a Bremen tannery, heard that British armored spearheads were nearing the port, and fled from the threatened city to meet their liberators.

Other thousands of displaced persons, haggard from abuse and insufficient food, most of them clad in rags, were liberated when the British Seventh Armored Divisions seized 500 square miles of territory in 48 hours.

Terrible conditions were found to have prevailed in the prison camps. All of the inmates of these camps, two of which were seized in the latest advances of Seventh Armored columns, were desperately hungry when they were liberated.

CHILD HEALTH DAY SET BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS)—President Roosevelt Monday proclaimed May 1 as Child Health Day. He called upon the nation's communities to implement a new drive for complete birth registration and better care of children so that the growing generation will be "strong to mold the peace."

London's Zoo recently received its first animals since early in the war.

TOGO IS GIVEN TWO JAP POSTS

TOKYO, April 10.—(INS)—Former Japanese Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo was named Monday to head two posts in Premier Admiral Baron Kantaro Suzuki's new cabinet—those of foreign minister and minister of Greater East Asia affairs.

Suzuki had kept the two posts for himself in announcement of his new cabinet, but Tokyo reports at the time said that Togo was likely to fill the two spots. Togo is known to be violently anti-American.

Former Jap Premier Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma has been appointed president of the privy council, a post which Suzuki vacated when he was named prime minister to succeed Gen. Kuniaki Koiso.

German Treasure Found In Mine To Be Held For Time

WASHINGTON, April 10.—(INS)—Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius said today that the gold and art treasures unearthed in a German salt mine by American forces will be held by the Army for the time being.

Stettinius declared that this procedure is standard in dealing with loot regained from the enemy. The property will eventually be disposed of by the Allied control commission.

Sakkara, or Saqqara, a village on the left bank of the Nile river in Egypt, is known for Egypt's most ancient pyramid, the "Step-pyramid." It was built there by Zoser of the third dynasty in about 3000 B. C. The pyramid has paneled walls of fine limestone and lotus, and columns of beautiful colts stones. The exterior of it, faced with tone and marble, has been removed and only the brick structure remains.

REPORT GERMAN LINER CAPSIZED

PARIS, April 10.—(INS)—An unidentified 660-foot long German liner capsized during an attack by American heavy bombers against Kiel on April 3, strategic air force headquarters announced tonight.

One submarine, two minesweepers and three other vessels were sunk in the raid.

Reconnaissance photographs indicated damage to almost every building in the naval dockyard and two submarine building plants at Kiel, the announcement said.
